Dr. Lang started his law enforcement career in 1989 with the Havre de Grace Police Department. He served as a patrol officer for two years until he became employed by the Baltimore County Police Department (BCoPD), where he served for the next 23 years. Initially assigned to the Patrol Division, the administration transferred him to the Criminal Investigation Division (CID), Crimes Against Persons Section, where he completed hundreds of violent crime investigations, including crimes of rape, armed robbery, and murder. In addition to his primary detective assignment, Dr. Lang also served as a certified Maryland Police and Correctional Training Commission adjunct police instructor at the BCoPD Academy for 16-years and as an FBI trained forensic artist, completing over 100 composite sketches for the BCoPD and other jurisdictions. His forensic art training encompassed concepts concerning composite sketches, postmortem drawings, age enhancements, two-dimensional, and three-dimensional skull reconstructions. Dr. Lang transitioned into higher education in 2014 following his retirement from law enforcement. He currently serves as the chair for the Department of Criminal Justice at Glenville State University, teaches field forensic courses to undergraduate students, and conducts research.

UNIVERSITY TEACHING

University of Valley Forge, 2014 – 2016
Assistant Professor

Criminal Justice Program: In 2013, upon completing my master's degree, I was contracted by UVF (private college) to develop and build a Bachelor of Science Criminal Justice program on their campus. UVF launched the BS Criminal Justice program in August 2014, where I served as the Director of Criminal Justice and the first professor for the program.

Undergraduate Courses Instructed: American Courts and Justice System, Constitutional Law, Corrections and Penology, Criminal Investigation, Criminal Procedure, Criminology, Internship Seminar for Psychology, Introduction to Criminal Justice, Introduction to Psychology, Juvenile Delinquency and Justice, and Research Methods for Behavior Sciences.

Glennville State University, 2016 – present
Associate Professor, (Tenured)

Field Forensics Concentration: In 2015, GSC implemented a field forensics concentration in its criminal justice program and needed a professor with extensive field experience to build the prescribed forensic courses. Adjustments were required for course descriptions and learning objectives and vetted through the curriculum process. Courses developed and enhanced under this initiative included Advanced Crime Scene Management, Death Investigations, Firearms and Ballistics, and Physical and Trace Evidence.

Undergraduate Courses Instructed: Advanced Crime Scene Management, Advanced Issues in Evidence, Corrections, Crime Scene Management, Criminal Evidence and Procedure, Death Investigations, Firearms and Ballistics, Fingerprinting and Latent Processing, Homeland Security, Internships, Introduction to Criminal Justice, Interviewing and Report Writing, Juvenile Justice, Organized Crime, Physical and Trace Evidence, and Police Practices and Procedures.

UNIVERSITY SERVICE

University of Valley Forge, 2014 – 2016

Online Development Committee: During my tenure at UVF, I was assigned to work with the initiative of developing and launching online curriculums in conjunction with a contractual agreement with Significant Systems. Course outlines and plans of study for criminal justice and psychology programs were established. Online course schedules, including a rollout schedule, were developed and online programs for BS Criminal Justice, BS Psychology, and MS Psychology were launched by the end of the AY 2015-16.

Mentor for the Men's Basketball Team: During my two years at UVF, I became involved as a mentor for the men's basketball team, providing individual and group mentorship, and conducted group discussions about character traits. My efforts were recognized in 2015 when I was awarded the ESPY Faculty/Staff Supporter of the Year Award.

Glennville State University, 2016 – present

Assessment Committee: Drawing on my education of public policy and administration during my doctorate, I requested to work on the Assessment Committee, where an analysis of the criminal justice program's annual assessment proved inferior to the institutions and accreditor's expectations. I was solely responsible for revamping the assessment to include an internal and external assessment tool correlating to measure the prescribed learning objectives. The new assessment procedure proved beneficial as it created the ability to identify triangulation in the data and has become the model for other academic departments' annual assessment reports. I was also able to mentor colleagues charged with the task of writing assessments but unfamiliar with the premise, and positively impacted the growth and improvement of assessments in other departments.

Curriculum Committee: As a department chair, it was my responsibility to assess programs in my assigned departments and identify necessary changes for improvements. I worked collegially with my faculty members, completing the necessary paperwork, and making the presentation to the curriculum committee. Areas addressed in the programs included, but are not limited to, defining/re-defining course prerequisites, course rotations, re-defining learning objective to meet current industry standards, revising course outlines, adding, and removing courses from the program, and course catalog revisions.

Faculty Fellow – Study Abroad Initiative: To bring about opportunities for GSC students to study abroad, I worked with our study abroad facilitator, Knowledge Exchange Institute (KEI), to create study abroad opportunities at the London South Bank University (LSBU) in London England and Griffith College in Dublin, Ireland. Developing the opportunity entailed reviewing LSBU's and Griffith College's criminal justice curriculum, identifying courses that correlated to courses offered at GSC in our criminal justice program, and mapping out the time in the plan of study the students would study abroad. Planning and preparation included the opportunity for me to travel to London and Dublin and meet with representatives of their programs to finalize the arrangements. The final product gave students at least two options at each college.

Faculty / Student Excellence Award Committee: The committee handles the nominations and selection of a faculty member and a student who is awarded the Award of Excellence. The nomination is reviewed, and elections conducted to make the selection.

Online Task Force: In the AY2017-18, the administration elected to develop and launch online programs in business and criminal justice. Leaning on my experience from developing the online program at UVF, various stakeholders from the college collaborated on the development of the online programs. An AS and BS Criminal Justice programs were launched the following year, where courses were rolled out based on the plan of study or the need, as determined by an interactive spreadsheet. The success of this accomplishment was recognized when the members of the committee received the GSC Presidential Citation in the AY2017-18.

Presidential Advisory Committee: In 2017, GSC elected a new president who formed the Presidential Advisory Committee, a committee of all the campus leaders, who met regularly to address issues on campus. The forum opened communications between academic and non-academic entities to help identify issues and bring about resolutions.

Higher Learning Commission Focus Visit: In the fall of 2019, GSC experienced a focus visit from the Higher Learning Commission (HLC) when deficiencies were identified two years prior. One area identified concerned annual program assessments. With the positive transition to the criminal justice assessment and its influence on other department's assessments, I represented the departments (Criminal Justice and Social Science) as a chair and outlined the revisions to the assessment plans with success. HLC has since issued its report indicating our institution has appropriately addressed the criterion deficiency in the assessment.

Higher Learning Commission Online Accreditation Visit: Also, in the fall of 2019, the HLC conducted an initial visit to the GSC campus to review the development of the online program. I had the opportunity to speak with the committee as a representative of the criminal justice program and outlined how the program was developed, deployed, and assessed. Consequently, the HLC representatives concurred that our program complied with their accreditation standards and has recently issued a report allowing the college to fully roll out the program.

Student Advising and Mentoring: Each semester faculty engage our students in actively advising them for the academic curriculum based on their performance and progress. Utilizing provided software/database (DegreeWorks), students are provided with a structured schedule to help them matriculate through the program based on their abilities. Additionally, considering the advanced experience within the criminal justice profession, students often seek individualized career guidance and advice with degrees, minors, and elective course selections. Also within the program is the ability for students to enroll in an honors program. As a mentor faculty members lead and guide students through research projects over a four-year period where a final presentation becomes the capstone.

Grants:

National Rifle Association Grant $2,500 (2016-17): Initial application for this grant was completed the prior academic year by previous faculty. Glenville State University own and maintains a public shooting range, which is also integrated into the criminal justice program with the Firearms and Ballistics course, and the Pioneer Shooting Club. Glenville State University was awarded the $2,500 grant to facilitate the purchase of two shotguns to be used in the course and student organization. Responsibilities included the completion of the necessary paperwork to purchase and respond to the grant, providing proof the grant was used for its intension.

ARC Power Grant $1,420,000 (2021-22): The Department of Business initially pursued this grant in 2020-21 AY for the purpose of developing a cybercrime certificate program but could only budget approximately $250,000 of the potential $1.5M. The Foundations Office approached me to see if we could weave the criminal justice program into the grant to update the campus Crime Scene House and the Morris Criminal Justice Training Center (MTC). Through a collaborative effort, a proposal was developed to conduct $40,000 of structural improvements at the Crime Scene House and to create an interview/interrogation room and cybercrime forensic lab, build a courtroom/classroom (including video technology) for mock trials, and install a 360° firearms simulator for instructional and research initiatives. The grant application articulates that the criminal justice upgrades folds into the cybercrime certificate (online program) by requiring a residency of the students (estimated to be 3 to 4 days) where the students will experience a mock cybercrimes investigation that causes them to matriculate through an entire investigation (discovery and investigation of the crime, laboratory analysis, and courtroom testimony). These resources can be further utilized by the institution in student instruction, student organizations, community education, research initiatives, and workforce development. In a letter of support for this application Senator Joe Manchin stated, "This program will also create a state-of-the-art simulation experience for cybercrimes and security at Glenville State College." Currently, this grant is in process of being awarded to Glenville State University.

UNIVERSITY LEADERSHIP

University of Valley Forge, 2014 – 2016

Director of Criminal Justice: Before initiating my police retirement in 2014, I worked contractually with UVF to develop the seated version of the BS Criminal Justice program. Development included the generating, of course, descriptions, course outlines, learning objectives, and other related materials to meet the Middle States Commission on Higher Education accreditation requirements. In 2014, after launching the ground program, I worked the next two years as the director, developing the courses, publishing the schedules, creating a crime scene facility for student learning in an area of campus housing that was not currently used, and connecting with and establishing relationships with criminal justice professionals in the community.

Chair, Behavioral Sciences Department: After AY2014-15, the administration unseated the chair of the Behavioral Science Department after a contentious year and requested nominations. The department of six professors nominated me, and I was elected as the new chair. My responsibilities included scheduling courses, overseeing faculty evaluations, scheduling speakers for speaking events to behavioral science students, evaluating curriculum, submitting curriculum changes to the curriculum committee, helping with and oversight for the launch of the BS Criminal Justice, and BS and MS Psychology online programs, oversight of the CSWE recertification for the Social Work program, and other common duties affiliated with the position of chair.

Co-Chair Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE) Criterion II Committee: I worked as a co-chair with Dr. Bruce Marino on the MSCHE Criterion II (ethics and integrity) committee. In addressing this criterion, the committee was responsible for finding documentation and evidence of instances where the college had address issues of ethics and integrity. Responsibilities included determining how the information would be sought, stored, and documented. UVF was re-accredited after my departure from their institution.

Glennville State University, 2016 – 2023

Chair, Department of Criminal Justice: At the end of AY2016-17, the chair for criminal justice left the college and was nominated and elected to the position. I served the department during the 2017-18 academic year in scheduling courses, overseeing faculty evaluations, evaluating curriculum, submitting curriculum changes to the curriculum committee, and required committee service with the curriculum committee. Other duties included conducting department meetings, propose curriculum changes, coordinate curricula with the department and other departments, approve faculty assignments, evaluate faculty members, assign advisees to faculty advisors, prepared, submit, and monitor yearly budgets, establish, and maintain course fees, identify, and assist with recruitment initiatives, and other common duties affiliated with the position of chair. Other duties included conducting department meetings, propose curriculum changes, coordinate curricula with the department and other departments, approve faculty assignments, evaluate faculty members, assign advisees to faculty advisors, prepared, submit, and monitor yearly budgets, identify, and assist with recruitment initiatives, and other common duties affiliated with the position of chair. In anticipation of a job change in August 2023, I stepped down as chair in January 2023.

Chair, Department of Social Science: Beginning AY2019-20, I was nominated and elected to chair both the Department of Criminal Justice and the Department of Social Science. The Department of Social Science houses the psychology, sociology, history, and political science disciplines. It is constructed of five faculty members and facilitates several general education courses and a Social Studies Education program. At the start of AY2019-20, I ascertained the faculty member responsible for completing the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) and Specialty Professional Association (SPA) reports for our Social Studies Education certification was not proficient in the tasks. After attempts to mentor the faculty member failed, I stepped in and worked with the Dean of Education and completed the report myself—with no formal training in the process—and completed the necessary answers for identified concerns. Consequently, in February 2020, CAEP issued a report nationally recognizing our Social Studies Education program, removing their concerns.

Chair, Academic Policy Committee: During AY 2018-19 and AY2019-20, I was assigned by the Provost to the Academic Policy Committee and elected to the position of the chair by the members. Meetings were governed by Robert's Rules. Responsibilities included identifying policies needing change, accepting policy revisions for consideration, scheduling meetings, and posting agendas. Policies reviewed during this period included academic affairs, class attendance, incomplete grades, late registration, withdraw policies, reviewing Board of Governor draft policies, and revising bylaws.

Criminal Justice Program 5-Year Review: Facilitated the compilation and reporting of 5 years of administrative data and updated the report to reflect the changes to the criminal justice curriculums, assessment, and current state of the overall program. Following the completion of the report was an independent review of the report identifying strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats.

Pierpont Articulation Agreement: Created an academic pathway for 2-year students completing an AS Criminal Justice at Pierpont Community & Technical College to continue into a 4-year BS Criminal Justice program at GSC by aligning the two different plans of studies between the two institutions. The articulation agreement was signed in April 2018.

Health, Science, & Technology Academy (HSTA): HSTA is a program for high school students interested in health science and technology as a career. High school sophomores enrolled in the program attend a forensic science camp at GSC during the summer months and receive forensic investigative instruction from high school teachers. The week before camp, I instruct high school teachers in forensic methods, to include blood spatter analysis, crime scene photography, fingerprinting, and firearms ballistics. Additionally, I assist the teachers in generating a complex series of related crime scenes the students investigate and solve.

Open-Source Information Exchange (OSIX) Project: GSC is 1 of 10 OSIX sites where students conduct investigations over open-source resources on the Internet. I work with Professor Henline—who teaches cybercrimes investigations—and advises the student-led organization in training and investigations. The organization was not operational when I arrived at GSC in 2016. With the assistance of Professor Henline, we have revived the organization, trained the students, and are working on investigations concerning a missing woman from Sutton, WV.

Pioneer Shooting Club Advisor: During AY2016-17, I was asked by the student body to be the Advisor to the Pioneer Shooting Club. Upon acceptance, I finished administrative duties required to complete an NRA Grant received by the institution, conducted safety training classes, and oversaw shooting events at the public range owned by the college.

Co-Founder Alpha Sigma Phi Honor Society Gamma Sigma Chapter: as a member of the honor society, I worked with my criminal justice colleagues to complete the application, nominate members, and issue regalia for our new chapter, Gamma Sigma Chapter.

Master of Science in Criminal Justice at GSU: During the 2021-22 academic year Glenville State University secured its university status through the state legislature and initiated plans to develop graduate programs, including the Master Science in Criminal Justice. I coordinated efforts with the department faculty and helped to develop an assessment survey, needs assessment report, course outlines, and curriculum submission for the 2022-23 academic year.

ADJUNCT TEACHING EXPERIENCE

- 2018 – present Southern New Hampshire University: (Online Criminal Justice) graduate courses include: Assessing Organizational Performance, Courts and Judicial Process, and Data-Driven Decisions in Criminal Justice.
- 2014 – 2016 University of Management and Technology: (Online Criminal Justice – undergraduate courses included: Criminal Justice System, Criminal Law, Ethics in Criminal Justice, Law Enforcement, Criminal Justice Management, and Criminalistics.
- 1998 – 2014 Baltimore County Police Academy: Courses included: Sex Crimes Investigations, Investigative Resources, Basic Investigator’s Courses, and Advanced Investigator’s Courses.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Columbia Southern University:

Top 25 Alumni: In 2018, CSU identified their top 25 alumni from over 60,000 alum. I was honored to be named one of those top alumni. The selected alumni were featured in the CSU Fall 2018 Alumni Magazine.

Restorative Justice:

Calhoun Action Team:

- Consult the Calhoun County Public School System as a restorative justice expert
- Help to coordinate connections between professionals regarding restorative justice with county school systems and professional entities in restorative justice.

Prison Fellowship:

- Completed applications for proclamations in the State of West Virginia to name April “Second Chance Month.”
- Contacted State and Congressional representatives, and the White House, to support the First Step Act. I received a letter of acknowledgment from the White House for my effort in the First Step Act.

Restorative Justice 4 All:

- The RJ4All organization maintains the Internet Journal of Restorative Justice publication in which I serve as an editorial board member, peer reviewer, and a member of the research ethics committee.

West Virginia State Legislature:

- Worked with stakeholders to identify issues with the current West Virginia Juvenile Restorative Justice laws §49-4-725, identified its deficiencies, collaborated with Delegate Dianne Graves, and provided recommendations to language changes to bring about more inclusivity to use of restorative justice with status, non-violent, and violent offenders.
- Testified before the 2020 WV House Judiciary Committee about restorative justice, its concepts, and the language if the proposed HB4670.

United States District Court Northern District West Virginia

- In 2021 I was approached by Brenda Waugh J.D., M.A. who was contacted by the Honorable Judge Michael Aloï of the Federal Court Northern District West Virginia and requested to assist in the development of a pilot program to incorporate restorative justice concepts into drug court cases. Ms. Waugh and I met virtually on a regular basis and developed a ‘train the trainer’ program that is community based with the Great Recovery and Community Empowerment (GRaCE) organization. A restorative justice curriculum was developed, and a workshop was conducted in July 2022.

Forensic Analysis

Daniel Lady Farm

- In June 2022 I was invited by the Board of Trustees for the Daniel Lady Farm historical site to conduct a bloodstain analysis in the farmhouse. During the Battle of Gettysburg in July 1863, the house was used by Confederate troops as a field hospital, where more than 80 ranking officers underwent surgical procedures in the residence. A bloodstain analysis was conducted in integral rooms of the house and produced findings that were able to help property historians to understand and articulate the Daniel Lady family story to the public.

Civil War Reenactment: Educational & Firing of Civil War Period Cannons

As a member of the Thompson Battery C PA Volunteer educational demonstrations and cannon firing occur at a variety of reenactment events on the east coast of the United States. During these events members educate the public about the firing procedures for the 20-pound Parrott cannon and the 12 pound Mountain Howitzer as used in the Civil War.

- April 22-24, 2022, 160th Battle of Shiloh, Gettysburg, PA: 20 lb. Parrott Cannon
- June 17-18, 2022, Ft. Ward Museum and Historic Site, Alexandria, VA: 12 lb. Mountain Howitzer
- July 1-3, 2022, 159th Battle of Gettysburg, Gettysburg, PA: 20 lb. Parrott Cannon
- September 16 - 18, 2022, 160th Battle of Antietam, Gettysburg, PA: 20 lb. Parrott Cannon
